

TIME FOR ART: Alan Bond and his painting, Inferred Justice.

* Computer-generated image.

Bond is framed

AL Bond is making quite a name for himself behind bars for his paintings.

In fact he is being invited to put paint to canvas, as was the case with this work, called Inferred Justice, commissioned by Bond University for its 1999 10th anniversary celebrations.

But, according to a story in a paper in one of our eastern States stables, Bondy was surprised to get an invitation from a prominent Sydney art gallery to attend the launch of an exhibition.

Al jumped on the phone to regretfully decline the invitation because he was still confined to a cell.

But he wanted the gallery owner to know how pleased he was to receive an invitation.
